About the Summit

The Vanguard Impact Summit 2026 is a one-day virtual call to rise, bringing together ambitious women across North America to gain actionable insights, a powerful new network, and the confidence to take bold, aligned steps toward their goals. Through high-impact sessions and speakers, expert-led workshops, and dynamic networking with expanders, participants gain the tools, confidence, and clarity to grow in business, marketing, personal development, and their careers, with purpose.

This year, the Vanguard Impact Summit is proud to partner with the Capital Elle Business Impact Award, an initiative that redefines who gets recognized, funded, and celebrated in business. It was built for the women who were told to have their husband co-sign, were denied funding for not fitting the mold, and built their business anyway.

Together, these two flagship initiatives form a complete empowerment journey:

- Vanguard Impact Summit: where women gain the strategies, tools, and community to step into their power and shape their future.
- Capital Elle Business Impact Award: where the women who dared to build anyway are finally seen, funded, and celebrated.

Select sponsorship tiers now include dual recognition across both platforms, offering unmatched visibility, influence, and impact.

Andrea Chase is a Communications Consultant, Entrepreneur, and Co-Founder of BAITS Global Inc., where she leads MarketingVerse, a digital marketing suite built for women-led businesses and fast-growing tech startups. A seasoned entrepreneur, she previously founded ProCabby, a mobile app supporting the revitalization of the taxi and limousine industries.

Lynn Gaudet is a Senior Analyst with the Department of Justice and the Founder of All Infinite World, whose Empower branch highlights the stories of professional women and creates apparel with bold, inspiring messages. A lifelong advocate for women, animals, the elderly, and the unhoused, Lynn is passionate about helping people uncover their purpose and step fully into their power.

Erin Sisko is a business strategist, capital connector, and founder of The Elleiance Network, a national organization accelerating the success of Canadian women entrepreneurs through masterminds, social capital, and strategic growth. After a decade in commercial banking, she set out to close the funding gap for women by creating an ecosystem where founders move from bootstrapping to bankable, and from isolation to influence.

She is the Founder of Women Making Waves, a global mentorship platform amplifying women's voices through curated events, retreats, and collaborations, and leads Empowered by Experiences, a consultancy helping women founders and creatives launch with clarity and courage.
